Dixie Greyhound Bus Schedules Are Changed; Service to Cairo Begun

Sunday morning early there passed through Sikeston on their way to points in Florida, John C. McBride, of Paris, Mo., and Cicero McBride of Toledo, Ohio, both of whom were schoolmates of The Standard editor some 55 or 60 years ago. The hour they were in Sikeston was 6:00 a. m., Sunday morning. Sorry we didn't get to see them. Then Wednesday afternoon, Joe Brown, formerly of Moberly, Mo., was in to renew an acquaintance of 60 years. It was mighty nice of these old boys to tell nothing of our younger days in Northeast Missouri.

Mrs. Mary Gill Lemm, of Marion County, Mo., visited Mrs. Lemm's mother, Mrs. Irene Gill, in this city Wednesday. Also her grandfather, Frank Heister, Mrs. Lemm was accompanied by her three interesting daughters.

Advertising in April scored a gain of 7 per cent over the like month last year, it was disclosed by the general index of advertising compiled by Printer's Ink. The index figure, which stood at 79.8 for April, compared with 78.8 for March, an increase of 1.3 per cent.

Friends of Lynn A. Ancell, in this section of the county and in the hills where he was born, are talking of him to make the race for assessor of Scott county at the coming election. When asked about the matter Mr. Ancell said that sounded pretty good to him, but the election was a long way off and many changes can take place before time to announce. We can say for him that he is a 100 per cent Democrat and can carry a large vote down here.

THOUGHTS 'N' THINGS

By Halon Dawn

Been reading a book which proposes to show that many characters in the Bible, long accepted as rascals (such as Cain, Esau, and Ananias) weren't really as rough as the reports say. The writer even gives Jezebel a break.

Well, I've always contemplated writing a thin volume called "Bad men in the Bible whom I admire." For one, there was that much-maligned commander-in-chief of King David's army, General Joab.

The preachers rap him more than Father Coughlin does General Johnson. And yet what a warrior Joab was! Boy, when he couldn't smash the enemy the jig was up and David was headed back for the sheep business. And how loyal he was to his monarch. He even put the king's son on the spot to save the throne for David. I think if I'd been standing there by the altar that day when Solomon's guard rubbed Joab out I'd have slipped off by hat and mumbled, "There goes a real soldier!"

When you come to think about it, there are lots of folks in history, good and bad, misrepresented. I don't think the vicious ones were quite as nasty as they've been smeared, neither do I think the saints wore as big halos as they've been pictured. It's so dog-gone human-like to exaggerate whether we're talking about Goliath or Splitfoot.

You take those two well-known fellows in the American Revolution, Washington and Arnold. Take that stuff about George never lying . . . I'll be it was bragging to his progenitor that day about whacking down that cherry-tree. Sure, George was a great scout, a regular top-notcher, but you can lay to it that Martha knew things about him that he never told! On the other hand, bad as he was, Benedict probably had some good points. Just because he got mad and tried to sell the United States to England we take it for granted he never did a good thing in his life. But we don't want to forget that the red-coats thought George was just as big a traitor to his people as we think Benedict was! If the British had won that scrap George and Benedict might be featured in opposite niches!

Mussolini, Stalin, Hitler, Johnson, Huey Long . . . we'll never get the lowdown on them. We'll lie about their deficiencies first. Then in a few millennia we'll lie about their excellencies. After they've been dead long enough they'll probably turn out to be pretty swell guys. They put Paul in jail in his day but they write great cantos about him now. You can't tell, Huey Long and Aimee McPherson may be lovely people some day. Look what a tragicomedy and Claudette Colbert has done for Cleopatra! and see what the inkslingers have done for that tough kid, Alexander the Great.

Why, folks, you may have only one tiny rotten speck in you, and a thousand years hence you may be worse than Dillinger and Hauptmann put together! You may stand without a peer among the world's plug-uglies. On the other hand you may write a pretty poem, or say "shoot if you must this old gray head," and have the angels scrubbing our dogs! Sez I.

Accidents Due To Faulty Structures

Making the home safer for its occupants is the rather unusual but timely admonition of Mayor Presnell, who sees in the local Better Housing Program the opportunity to meet that little realized need.

Homes have been among our worst accident breeders, he declares.

"Government investigation recently proved that fact," Mayor Presnell said. "Nearly one-third of the accidental deaths in the United States every year occur in homes. Falls were the greatest cause—and we can accurately attribute most falls to unsafe stairways, defective floors and improper lighting. Fire was responsible for about one-sixth of the fatalities."

"We who are officially concerned with matters of safety must urge public intolerance of these causes, and the remedying of them. Fortunately, the elimination of certain fire hazards, the repairing or rebuilding of stairways,

"I hope the owners of residence and business property make special effort to check these hazards when they get ready to apply for improvement loans. Such repairs are just as vital in my opinion, as the improvements which protect the physical property."

The mayor forces an important improvement in property values and appearances as a result of the present campaign.

Lions Chorus Rehearses For Convention Stunt

Members of the Lions club chorus are rehearsing dance routines each morning for their performance at the organization's international convention in Mexico City, Mexico, on July 17. Miss Mildred Bradley, the director, said Wednesday.

Practice periods begin every day at 7 o'clock and extend for two or three hours. Several of the dances, already perfected, will be featured at the Lion's night club in the Sikeston cotton oil building

July 3; and before chorus members leave for Mexico City they will present their entire program for residents.

The chorus is composed of Adena Bowman, Mary Emma Powell, Evelyn Allard, Hazel Young, Marjorie Mow, and Shirley Shainberg. Mrs. O. T. Elder, the accompanist, and Miss Bradley will also go to Mexico City for the performance.

In 1933 and 1934 the group won first place in the international convention stunt contest.

W. H. D. Green to Talk at M. E. Christian Churches

Judge Will H. D. Green of West Plains will deliver a layman's address at the Methodist Episcopal church, South, at 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

Judge Green, who presides over an Ozark court circuit, is a notable churchman and one of the most able speakers of the state. In West Plains he is superintendent of the Christian church Sunday school.

Before he speaks at the Methodist church, Judge Green will talk at the Christian church Sunday school here.

On Sunday evening, the Rev. E. H. Orear, pastor of the Methodist church, will preach on "With Christ and My Neighbor in Industrial Relations." Members of the young people's orchestra will play several special numbers.

The judges in the Beauty Contest at the Auditorium Monday evening, were given very little time to get out of town after their selection was announced. However, the falling rain probably dampened the fury in the hearts of swains whose sweeties were not of the first four.

To our sensitive nerves bagpipe music is soothing to that of the accordian. The accordian is just about the damnest noise that is made to call music. And still we read in the papers where some one was prepared to teach the accordian at reasonable rates, provided, however, he could secure a sufficient number of pupils.

Attorneys for Mrs. Nellie Muench, charged with aiding or knowing of the kidnaping of Dr. Kelley, are making a desperate effort to have a change of venue for their client, claiming she cannot receive a fair trial in St. Louis County. Those indicted with her and stood trial have all been convicted and Mrs. Muench's name was brought into the case by many witnesses.

An old lady who was about to die, told her niece to bury her black silk dress, but to cut the back out and make herself a dress.

"Oh, Aunt Mary," said the niece. "I don't want to do that. When you and Uncle Charlie walk up the golden stairs, I don't want people to see you without any back in your dress."

To which the old lady replied:

"They won't be looking at me. I buried your Uncle Charlie without his pants".

Jobs for Scholarship Winners As First Two Receive Degrees

CALLED to Detroit for a conference with officials of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild, Albert W. Fischer, 22 years old, of Waukegan, Ill., and Raymond S. Doerr, 23, of Battle Creek, Mich., $5,000 scholarship winners in the initial coach-building competition sponsored by the educational foundation and the first of their select group to finish college, find that jobs await them upon graduation.

Both receive degrees this month. Fischer, who has been attending the University of Illinois, will join the research division of General Motors. He is seated at the left next to Guild President William A. Fisher. Secretary William S. McLean stands behind him with the other youth, who will begin work at the General Motors proving ground after obtaining his diploma from the University of Michigan.

Missourians Activities in Washington

By Foust Roper

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The ugly, muddy flood water of the Missouri river and its tributaries had hardly receded into their banks when Senator Clark and Representative Cannon took the floors of the senate and house, respectively, to introduce a bill appropriating $150,000,000 to aid the victims of the flood.

Part of this sum will be expended to aid residents of 138 counties in Western Kansas, Nebraska, New Mexico, Colorado and the Oklahoma-Texas "panhandle" region, who are, ironically enough, at this moment threatened with a drought as serious as last year's. The bill, upon which the senior senator from Missouri and the Elsberry representative collaborated, provides that the money shall be used to aid "stricken agricultural areas."

Bill in Broad Terms

The Missouri solons couched their legislation in practically the same terms as last year's drought relief bill when reports here indicated the Missouri's rampage—believed the worst in history—had devastated the valley just as thoroughly as lack of moisture had ruined it last summer.

Through the broad provisions of the bill every form of assistance will be brought into play in an effort to recoup somewhat the crop losses which have been suffered throughout the bottom lands of the state.

Senator Clark and Mr. Cannon worked at full speed on the matter when the need became apparent. They got together on the bill at noon and had introduced it into both branches of congress by 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

City at Play

Shriners from all over this nation, Canada and Mexico were here last week for their annual conclave and our town was given over completely to fun. Those who have been everywhere and seen everything say that the annual Shrine convention and New Orleans Mardi Gras are the two swellest events of their kind in the country.

No expense, it seemed, was spared to make the nobles' gathering a lavish display from beginning to end. Pennsylvania Avenue—"the Avenue" to Washingtonians—was an archway of colored lights, heavily decorated with huge lighted scimitars, crescents and stars, the emblem of Shrinedom. Lamp posts were transformed into palm trees and the "Court of Omar" on the Avenue in front of the White House, might have been lifted bodily from an Arabian city.

The only off-key, happening was the rain which halted the evening parade after an hour. Not until it came down in sheets did the nobles give up. And the crowds stayed until the end.

But even the downpour failed to halt the continual high class fun which marks a Shrine gathering. Center of activities was the Willard hotel, whose lobby was constantly jammed with bands and merrymakers. Five minutes would hardly elapse before some band would parade through its lounge and Peacock Alley.

The next evening the parade, plus a pageant, was given in full. Any visiting Shriner by calling the special number of "Tempo 1111," could immediately secure any information on any activity, which gives you an idea of how well everything was planned.

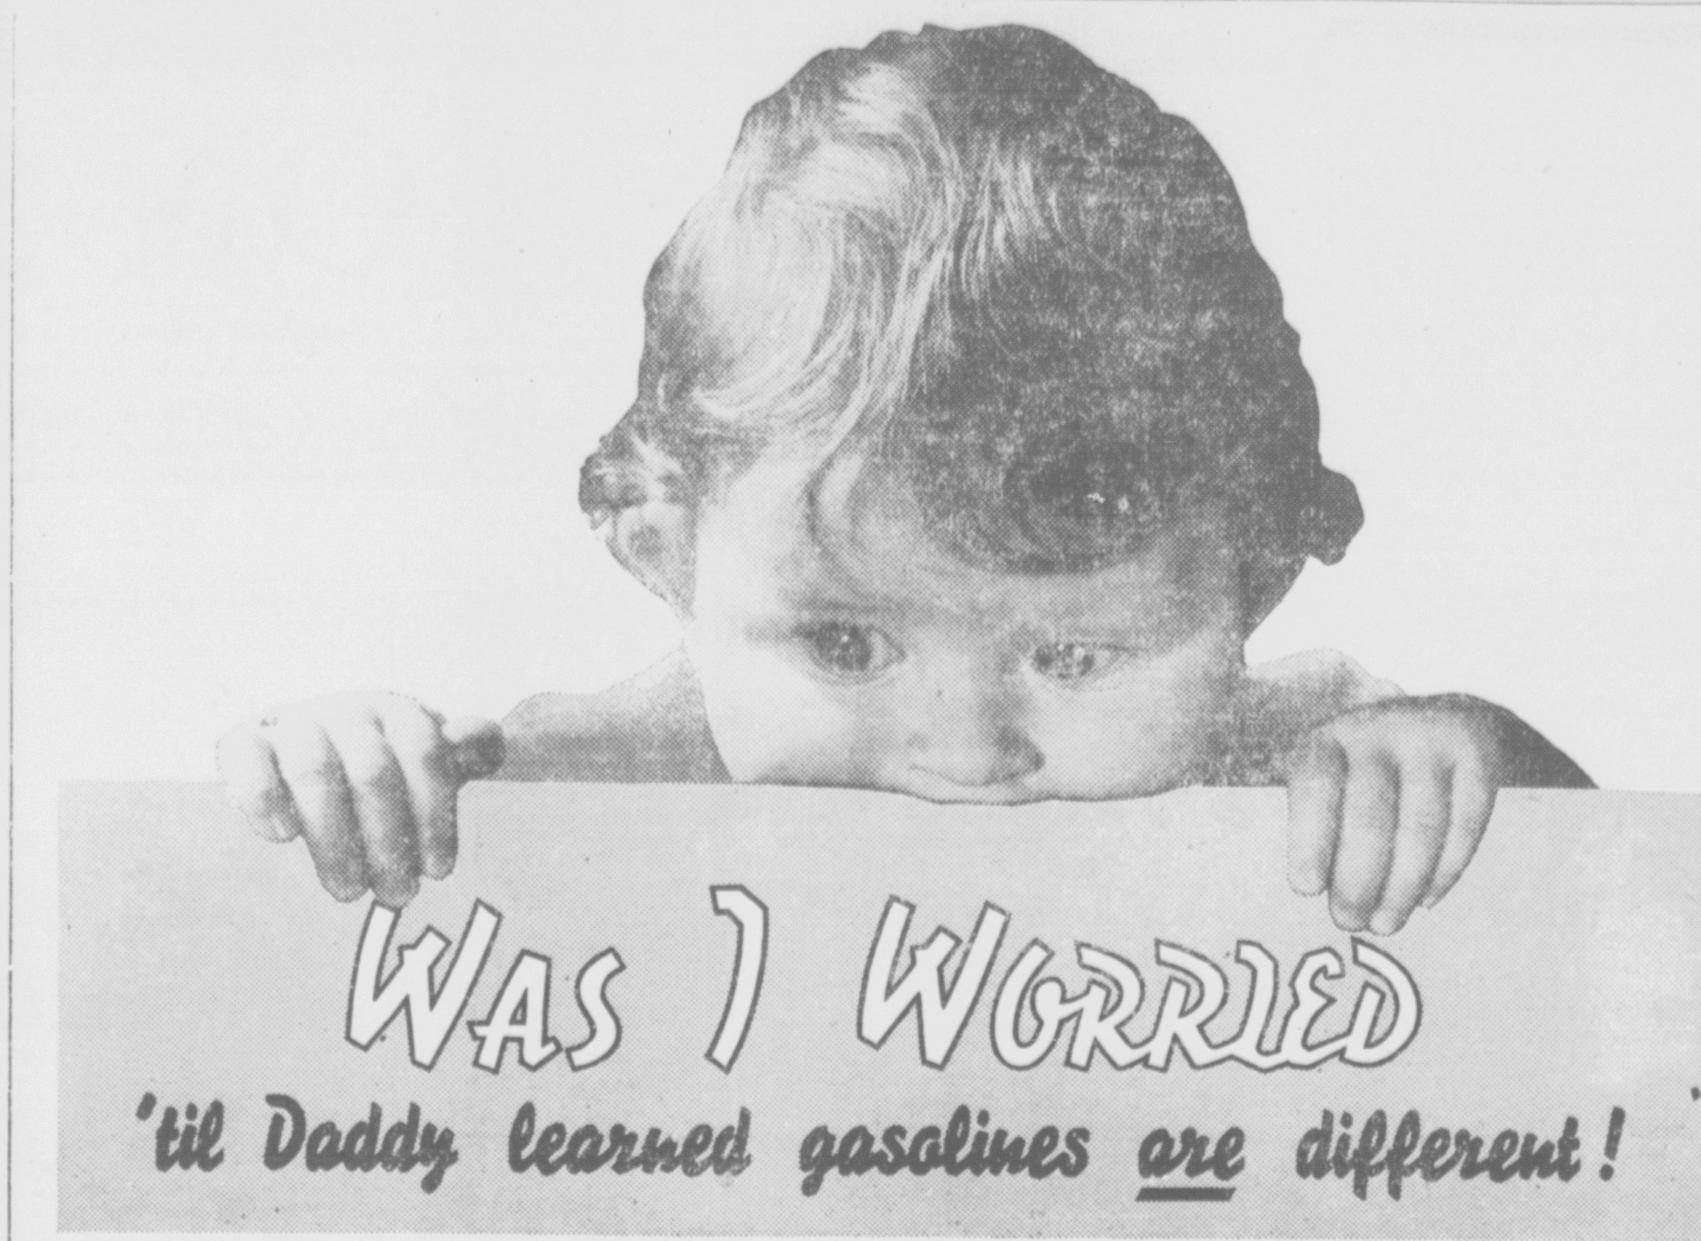

The consensus of opinion, indeed, was "Some fun—eh, kid?"

Flood Control Pushed

Speaking of floods and flood control (as who isn't, these days?) determined efforts on the part of Representative Zimmerman caused two provisions of acute interest to Missourians to be written into the general flood control bill reported favorably by the house flood control committee, of which the Kennett congressman is a member.

Mr. Zimmerman is responsible for those sections which call for appropriations of $546,800 for protection for Poplar Bluff against the Black River and $754,000 for levees which will safeguard 36,000 acres of farmland on the Little Black river in Butler and Ripley counties and northern Arkansas.

Levees are named in the first project but an amendment by Mr. Zimmerman provides for the construction instead of a reservoir at the discretion of army engineers. Surveys by army men have disclosed that Clearwater on Black

YOU DON'T catch me talking back to the Old Man—my father, I mean. Yuh see, he thinks he knows everything! Why, geewhiz... he reads the gasoline ads, especially the ones with pretty girl pictures in 'em, and then he gets a tankful of stuff nobody ever heard of. Yeah, a swell guy but a poor picker.

"Well, this afternoon being Sunday, we went for a ride... me all dressed up in a goofy bonnet with a big scratchy bow under my good ear. The traffic was terrific and the heat was goshawful. So out of sheer irritation I grabbed my forty winks.

"When I woke up, a motorcycle cowboy in a beautiful blue uniform was telling Pops that he couldn't park in the middle of the parade. I thought there were tears in Father's eyes—maybe it was only perspiration—as he answered 'My engine's dead. Help me push the car over to the curb.'

"Boyohboy, was that motor hot! Clouds of steam sizzling out of the radiator. Funny gurglings and thumpings under the hood as Dad peered in. For crying out loud, was his face red when Auntie's car and then the Clays' and the Merrivilles' passed, and they all saw us stuck there! But the real bad news is the bill we got for towing and for two new bearings.

"No sir, for the life of me, I can't see the economy of using cheap gasoline... especially when Phillips 66 is engineered for specific summer weather, same as it is for definite winter cold. Anyone can see that a gasoline made different for the different seasons of the year is gonna give better results. What's the sense of trying to save cents and wasting dollars, when you can get 100% custom-tailored gasoline—yes, I mean Phillips 66—for the same price as ordinary gas?

"P. S. Since writing the above, the car's been fixed and we're using Phillips 66, and Mother says the budget's in better shape than ever because we're getting more miles and less repair bills."

REV. ELLIS TO LEAVE FOR GEORGIA TO WED ANNE LOU STANALAND

The Rev. Dorsey D. Ellis will leave Sunday for his home in Waverly, Ala. On Tuesday he will go to Donaldsonville, Ga., where at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon, June 27, he will be married to Miss Anne Lou Stanaland.

The wedding will take place at the First Methodist church of Donaldsonville. The Rev. J. O. Stanaland, the bride's father and pastor of the Donaldsonville Methodist church, will perform the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. C. U. Leach, pastor of the Donaldsonville Presbyterian church.

Miss Stanaland, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. J. O. Stanaland, is a graduate of The Georgia College for Women at Valdosta, Ga. For several years she has been teaching in the public schools at Pavo, Ga.

The Rev. Mr. Ellis was graduated in 1931 from King College in Bristol, Tenn., and in 1934 from the Louisville Presbyterian Seminary, where he completed requirements for bachelor of divinity degree. Since May, 1934, he has been pastor of the Sikeston and Charleston Presbyterian churches.

After a brief trip through cities in the southeast, the Rev. and Mrs. Ellis will be at home here at 506 East Center Street.

and sessions of the Missouri Presbyterians Synod, U. S., which has held a joint meeting with the Missouri Presbyterians Synod, U. S. A. (Northern). He was accompanied to Fulton by Charles Trickey of Charleston.

The Rev. E. C. Hunt of St. Joseph is moderator. Among the outstanding speakers was Dr. J. R. Cunningham, president of the Louisville Presbyterian Seminary. The Synod conference session began Tuesday and is to end today.

Howard Turner to Bethany

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Turner left Monday afternoon for Bethany, Mo., where Turner has accepted a position as assistant agronomy technician under the government agricultural program. Turner, prior to his leaving Kennett, was head of the Doane Agricultural Service office here and had been in Kennett a year. The Doane Service handles farm business for the Central States Life Insurance Co.

H. G. E. Fick, who has been connected with this office for some time, will now be in charge of the office. C. T. Albert from Millstadt, Ill., has moved to Kennett and will complete the office staff of the Doane Agricultural Service. —Kennett Democrat.

Alarmed by an epidemic of house robberies, Earl Hope of Rock Hill, S. C., hunted out a pistol he had as a special officer some time ago, oiled it and placed it in readiness for any intruder. Last week he sadly reported that his house was entered but the only thing stolen was his pistol.

WHY AMERICA PREFERS BUDWEISER...

Slender Women should value it for
HEALTH and BEAUTY

Beauty and slenderness owe much to proper food and drink. BUDWEISER belongs in the diet of the woman who chooses wisely. BUDWEISER in itself is not fattening. Its caloric count is lower than that of milk and compares favorably with that of orange juice or soda water.

BUDWEISER is invigorating and strengthening. It stimulates with a pleasant, friendly glow, but it does not dissipate. It has a vivid, spirited taste that is found only in BUDWEISER. It makes good food taste better.

APPLICATIONS FOR HOME OWNERS' LOANS MAY BE MADE UNTIL JUNE 27

New applications to the Home Owners' Loan Corporation will be received until midnight June 27, Ray E. Lucas, county attorney, announced this week. No applications will be taken after that date.

There is now available enough money for many new loans to home owners in distress and about to be foreclosed. These loans are payable in monthly installments. The interest rate is 5 per cent.

If a home owner applying needs repair work done on his property, its costs may be included in the loan. Mr. Lucas said. The cost of obtaining such a loan is usually about $40.

"Before an applicant is eligible for a home owners' loan, he must be delinquent on his present loan, or must be delinquent with taxes on his property," according to Mr. Lucas. "It is necessary that he try to refinance his home through some local institution first, and he must also be able to pay the monthly installments as they fall due and keep his taxes and insurance paid."

"Home Owners' Loan Corporation does not make new loans. It merely refinances loans when the home owner is unable to meet his present loan and is about to lose his home under the present mortgage."

Application blanks may be secured from O. T. Pfefferkorn, the county appraiser, at Chaffee, or

MISS FREDA LANKFORD NAMED SIKESTON QUEEN

Miss Freda Lankford was chosen Miss Sikeston at the Junior Chamber of Commerce beauty pageant in the high school auditorium Monday evening.

Miss Dema Parker ranked second. No other placings were announced, but finalists besides Miss Lankford and Miss Parker, were Mrs. Duree Medley and Miss Irene Miller.

Miss Lankford, who won the title from thirty-six entrants, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lankford. She is a graduate of the Sikeston high school and is now employed at the Hahn Machine Works and at Clarence Scott's insurance agency office.

For the contest Miss Langford wore an ankle length white mousseline de soie dress dotted with red. Her sandals were white.

Because she was selected as Sikeston's beauty queen, Miss Lankford will be awarded a free trip to the state fair at Sedalia, where she will compete August 11 and 12 with about 200 representatives of other cities for the title of Miss Missouri. The state contest winner will be entered in the national beauty pageant to be staged at Atlantic City, N. J., the last week in August.

Reaching a decision was a difficult for the three-out-of-town judges, who required three elimination parades before choosing Miss Lankford. First, all entrants walked slowly across the stage, pausing to turn before the judges. Then after they had paraded a second time seventeen were eliminated. Nine remained for the semifinals and for the finals. Five young women entered were unable to compete.

Although most entrants wore evening gowns, several were dressed in sports ensembles and a few in dinner gowns. Judges were instructed to disregard costumes, however, as well as applause, and to confine their attention to facial beauty and "whatever other points make women attractive".

SERVICES HELD TUESDAY FOR MRS. MARY E. MCCOY

Mrs. Mary Ellen McCoy, a resident of Sikeston for many years, died Monday afternoon in the Farmington hospital, where she had been a patient for a week. She had been in ill health during the last year.

Funeral services were held at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home of a son, Daniel McCoy, Sr., at 205 Dorothy street, the Rev. E. H. O'rear officiating. Burial was in the City Cemetery.

Mrs. McCoy was born March 6, 1860, near Eldorado, Ill. She was married to George Perry McCoy in 1876 and in 1884 moved to Sikeston. Her husband died in 1911. Mrs. McCoy was a member of the Methodist church.

Besides Daniel McCoy, Mrs. McCoy is survived by another son, Lou McCoy, also of Sikeston; four sisters, Mrs. R. K. Bone, Mrs. Alice Edmondson, and Miss Lois Hawley, all of Sikeston, and Mrs. Prueila Johnson of Littleton,

CHAPTER TWELVE (Conclusion) A New Assignment

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE
Marion Forsythe, famous portrait-painter, has written her biography for Richard Kurt, editor, her threatened exposures causing consternation among some spectators, especially Leander Nolan, Senatorial candidate. After an attempted bribe from Orson Kinnicott, Nolan's future career is now in doubt. Marion has gone to Maine with Kurt to finish her biography. They fall in love. Then Nolan and Kinnicott arrive unexpectedly and to Kurt's fury, Marion is compelled to leave. She leaves Kurt, however, and alone now, she is about to consign the biography to the fire.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Kurt stamped noisily across the room. Marion regarded him stonily. Some of his self-confidence vanished before her sombre level gaze. "I'm sorry I lost my temper," he said, "but Kinnicott makes me see red."

"What is it that troubles me?" She sighed deeply. "I'm afraid our difference is deeper than that."

"Not if you love me," Kurt said uncertainly.

"Sit down, Dickie," Marion said quietly, "and be very patient and remember that I do love you." He started to interrupt, but she hurried on. "Hear me out for once. Try to understand my point of view. It isn't your anger that troubles me—it's ourself—the difference between us. Your hates frighten me, Dickie. These people—poor Bunny, that ridiculous fellow Kinnicott—to you, these blundering people stand for the forces that have hurt you and you hate them. But I don't hate them. I can't hate them."

His voice was expressionless. "I see."

"And my biography, Dickie—it is a destructive thing. It will, I believe, tell all. If we don't destroy it, it seems to symbolize the great gulf between us."

"And you'd destroy the book, because it might hurt somebody—"

"Yes."

"Because you're afraid of it."

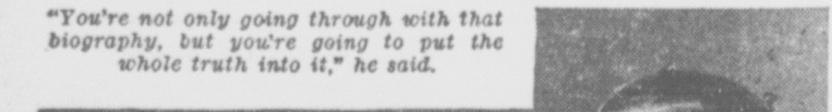

"Yes."

He rose unsteadily. "I see now why everything is this way," he said in a quavering wracked voice.

"Which way?"

"Why, the injustice and the cru-

"You're not only going through with that biography, but you're going to put the whole truth into it," he said.

shivered with repulsion. In that moment she hated herself for loving Kurt.

Then with short, quick steps she moved to the desk and picked up the manuscript. "Here it is," she cried, a sob in her voice. "Go ahead be as vicious and smug and intolerant as you like. Don't count me in or to anyone else. Revolutionize the world if you think this will do it! I give you full rights to my biography. It all belongs to you!" With a wild gesture she threw the manuscript square in his face. The pages fluttered like the wings of frightened moths to the floor. But I belong to myself! Goody!"

Her last glimpse of him was as he stood there rigid, surrounded by the scattered pages of the manuscript.

She rushed to her bedroom. Minnie was seated under a lamp, placidly sewing. "Minnie! Pack everything up. We're leaving right away!

"Fine, Marion." Minnie gave her unqualified approval to Feydak. "Und do crazy Kurt goes vit us?"

Minnie fumbled blindly for the catch on the suitcase. "No, Minnie," she said, a stabbing pain at her heart. "We're taking along."

A sound arose in Hollywood is a Bedlam that no words can describe. Particularly one on which a musical number is being rehearsed at full blast.

Mariam, however, was undisturbed by the noise as she sat in Tympl Wilson's portable dressingroom deftly sketching in his outline. He stood by, his hands clasped behind his back.

MISSOURI DRAINAGE LOANS AUTHORIZED

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The Reconstruction Finance Corporation announced today it had authorized loans aggregating $1,222,500 for refinancing one levee district and 16 drainage districts in Southeast Missouri.

The districts and the amount of the loans:

Scott County—Levee District No. 2, $41,000; Drainage District No. 10, $51,000.

New Madrid County—Drainage District No. 10, $21,500; Drainage District No. 12, $47,500; Drainage District No. 14, $10,500; Drainage District No. 29, $117,500; Drainage District No. 35, $8500.

Pemiscot County—Consolidated

District No. 1, $87,000;

District No. 3, $182,500;

District No. 6, $352,500;

District No. 8, $202,500;

District No. 12, $17,500;

District No. 14, $6000;

District No. 17, $26,500;

District No. 18, $15,500;

District No. 19, $8500.

These refunding loans are based upon deposits of 100 per cent of the outstanding indebtedness. In event less than 100 per cent is deposited, the amounts authorized automatically are decreased.

Contracts for construction of an emergency landing field a half mile west of Advance by the United States bureau of commerce air navigation department have been let. The Richmond Construction Company of Advance will fence the tract and the Demaree Brothers of Malden will condition it. When it is finished the field will be the most completely equipped of any on the federal air routes from St. Louis to New Orleans, according to government engineers.

"That's just it," she said sorrowfully. "You hate my essential quality. You were so destined of the very thing that is me."

Kurt looked at her suspiciously as if she were repeating someone else's words. "You've been discussing me with Nolan haven't you?"

Marion's eyes showed her hurt. "Oh no, Dickie, I haven't."

His jealousy took form. "Yes, it was. I saw him come back before. He talked to you about me, didn't he? He gripped her wrist. " Didn't he?"

"No, Dickie. He came to tell me he hoped I'd go ahead with my book."

Kurt dropped her hand savagely. "That's pretty likely, isn't it?" he sneered.

"But it's true. You see, Bunny wanted everything to go to smash. He wanted to marry me."

"I'm going to tell him! The double-crossing!" He broke off and looked at Marion almost fearfully. "What did you tell him?"

She made a small, hopeless gesture. "That I was in love with you."

"I see." He waited a fraction of a moment, then took hold of her possessively. "Look here, Marion. I've had enough of words and detachment and gabbling. You're going to do what I say!" He emphasized his last words by shaking her roughly.

"Dickie!" Marion was ecstatic. "You're coming to Hollywood!"

Yes. They want you to illustrate my articles. Will you do it?"

"Why you but—Dickie—when is the book coming out?"

There was an expensive pause. "It isn't coming out," Kurt said. "I burned up the manuscript."

"You burned it? Oh Dickie! You knew you would!"

Feydak looked down at the lease quickly.

"Dickie! I kidded myself about it," Kurt said airily. "It wasn't so hot."

But Marion had to know. "That's not the reason you destroyed it. Tell me why Dickie," she insisted insistently.

"Yes it is," Kurt stalled. "I decided it wouldn't make any money."

"Go on" Marion said inexorably, "tell me. Its very important. I've got to know."

"Well—it was because I—because I—" he cast caution to the winds.

"I love you, Oh Dickie." She clung to the telephone. "You're getting to be a regular human being."

"You said it! I've learned my lesson, Marion. I'm kind to old ladies, I aid helpless little kittens to cross the street."

"When are you coming out here?" Marion cut in excitedly. There was a slight sound beside her as of paper being torn slowly across.

"I leave by plane in the morning."

Kurt snatched the manuscript assignment dear. "I'm going to rig right into Hollywood—strip the hide off of every moron in the whole half-witted moving picture racket."

"Oh Dickie," Marion shook with laughter as she realized that Kurt's metamorphosis was not so complete after all. But it didn't matter. Nothing had mattered now, she knew. Her laughter trilled up high again. "Oh Dickie!"

Feydak's hands slowly opened to release the torn bits of the lease. He watched them as a gust of air blew them out the window.

THE END

The room was desperately still. Marion, Marion said to herself with a maddened feverishness. All that had happened, Kinnicott, Nolan, Slade, had formed into a sort of composite photograph. With all their bluster and quarrelsome, she knew somewhere deep within her that they trusted her—trusted her as simply and guilelessly as children. And Kurt was asking her—commanding her to plunge a cruel knife into their unsuspecting backs. She

NEW MADRID COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

Just received a set of blanks for application of a PWA project which is being considered at Pleasant. Making such application requires the filling out of about 100 pages of blanks giving a mass of technical data. One set of blanks is to be signed by a lawyer and another to be filled out by an architect. After going to all this trouble, one is still not sure that the project will be approved.

When a PWA project is approved, the government donates 45 per cent of the total cost and loans the balance of 55 per cent at 4 per cent interest. For a while the interest rate was specified at 3 per cent but last week it was announced that the old 4 per cent was restored and also that the 55 per cent could be borrowed from other sources if desired.

Gideon is planning a new high school building which will be an $80,000 PWA project. They are using the famous Wm. B. Itiner for their architect. The Gideon school board consists of President R. B. Meentemeyer, Secretary R. T. Stokes, W. R. Anderson, Uelson Matson, S. A. McMurry, and M. V. Mumma. L. B. Hoy is the superintendent of the school and is elected again next year for the twentieth year.

Conran is now building a 4-room structure without government aid and without a bond issue. The new building will replace the one burned last winter and will house the town grades and junior high school. Members of the school board are: President Albert W. Hoggard, Secretary, T. A. Penman, J. F. Litzelstelner, D. M. Smita, Cudey Swiley, Gus Elceman, and Charley Pikeley, treasurer. Sterling G. Croell will be at the head of the school system next year. He has worked in the district several years and received the promotion this year.

On June 7, the Hough School closed. Back water had delayed the school causing it to be the last one in the county out. The eighth grade graduates were: Christine Blyze, Frank Gaines and Goldie Carnahan. Miss Gladys Karr was the teacher but next year she will teach at Union Grove. Beatrice Williams of East Prairie is elected at Hough for the next term.

WORK ON BAPTIST CHURCH ✓ TO BE COMPLETED SOON

The work of repairing the First Baptist church building is progressing rapidly.

Contractors, who began activity June 3, have already repaired the church roof and porch and have raised and strengthened the porch archways. According to present plans, the church will be renovated in two weeks.

Floors will be varnished and new carpets laid, and seats will be cleaned and waxed. The whole interior will be redecorated. When work is finished walls will have a buff paint background stippled in gold.

Floodlights will be placed on the church front.

MISSOURI WORKS OFFICE TO BE OPERATING JULY 1

WASHINGTON, June 19—Matthew S. Murray, Missouri Works Progress Administrator, said tonight, he planned to have state headquarters operating in Jefferson City by July 1.

Murray, who came to Washington for a series of conferences with Harry L. Hopkins, Federal Works Progress Administrator, and other officials, expected to return to Kansas City tomorrow night. He will go to Jefferson City next week to look for headquarters.

"We'll be ready to receive applications by July 1," he said. "Before then I hope to obtain the exact number of employables on relief in the 114 counties and the City of St. Louis. Every effort will be made to assign employables work for which they are best fitted."

NODAWAY FARMERS GIVE UP HOPE FOR CORN CROP

Maryville, June 18.—Nodaway County farmers today had about given up hopes of getting in a corn crop after rains Monday night varying from 2 to 3 inches. Only about one-third of corn has been planted and it is almost too late now to get in a crop.

SUBJECTS OF WOODRUM'S SERMONS ANNOUNCED

Subjects of the Rev. Lon R. Woodrum's sermons, to be delivered during the last days of the revival which he is conducting at the church of the Nazarene here, were announced Wednesday.

Thursday night, the Rev. Mr. Woodrum preached on "End of the Rebel Trail". He will speak on these subjects this week-end: Friday, "Last Session of the Supreme Court"; Saturday, "Let's Get Drunk"; Sunday morning, "Simon Peter Gets the Blessing"; and Sunday evening, "Headed for the Mountain".

The Rev. Mr. Woodrum plans to attend a district Nazarene church young people's rally in Cape Girardeau from 2 until 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. About 150 members of Charleston, Morehouse, Cape Girardeau, and Sikeston churches are expected to be present. The Rev. Mr. Woodrum will be the principal speaker, and individual groups will present musical numbers. Henry Comer of Sikeston is district president of the Nazarene young people.

URGES ALL RESIDENTS TO ATTEND STATE FAIR

Before a beauty pageant held Monday night, Mrs. G. Moore Greer, representing the state fair, briefly mentioned attractions of the exhibition and urged Missourians to visit Sedalia between August 10 and 17 this year and support the fair.

Mrs. Greer will remain at the grounds this summer as hostess at the women's building, a position she also held last August. Her speech is printed below.

"Few undertakings of the state of Missouri are more important or more effective in building civic pride among Missourians than is our annual Missouri state fair. Probably no other enterprise is capable of equal selling power or has a comparable attention value among persons outside this state."

"For these and many other reasons we should support our state fair at Sedalia August 10 to 17."

"The beauty contest tonight, the winner of which will appear in Sedalia August 11 and 12, is a new attraction for this year's fair."

"The fair will present many other new attractions and exhibits of general and specific interest to all classes. Here, every evidence of our great natural resources, various phases of our commercial and agricultural enterprise, the scenic grandeur of Missouri, and many examples of the industrious ingenuity of our citizenry—all offered for the benefit and pleasure and instruction of every visitor."

"You will be rewarded for your attendance by famous bands, brilliant night horse shows, auto and horse racing, fireworks displays, and many startling and amazing free acts."

"It is our fair—your fair—and I urge the attendance of everyone, especially every Missourian."

ORVILLE TAYLOR ACCEPT PLACE ON WOLF'S STAFF

Orville Taylor became affiliated with the Wolf Furniture Company as a furniture salesmen Monday morning.

CONTRACT SIGNED FOR STATE C. E. MEET HERE

Contracts which assure Sikeston of being host to the 1935 annual state Christian Endeavor convention here on November 7, 8, 9, and 10, were signed Wednesday, it was announced.

Representatives of Sikeston young people's church organizations who pledged themselves to support the convention are W. B. Ensor, Paul Higgins, Walter Weekly, Elmer Poage, and Kemper Bruton.

Between 350 and 500 delegates are expected to attend the conference. Registration fees of $1 will entitle them to rooms and breakfast in private homes during the days of the meeting.

All sessions will be held in the Methodist Episcopal church, South, where numerous prominent church leaders will speak, including Homer Readeheaver, nationally known song writer and music director for Billy Sunday.

FLORENCE MAYS WED TO CHARLES HANNAH SUNDAY

Miss Florence Mays and Charles Hannah, both of Sikeston, were married here Sunday. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. F. Transue, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mays. Mr. Hannah is a son of Mrs. Sara Hannah. They will farm on a tract in the Chaney school district.

TWO PARKING TRACTS OPENED FOR MERCHANTS

Under a plan sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, merchants will be asked to park their automobiles on two lots situated on the north side of Center street in the block between Kingshighway and North New Madrid Street.

Permission to use the lots has been granted by the owners, J. A. Young and G. B. Greer. The lots are located on either side of the Young building and may be reached from the paved alley running behind buildings on the north side of Center. Later, according to present plans, a lighting system will be installed on the tracts so that they may be used on Saturday evenings.

In advocating use of the lots, junior chamber members are trying to relieve traffic congestion, which has long been tolerated on downtown streets.

Bert Gentry, well-known to motorists for his work as an employee of the Martin Oil Company, has been promoted to manager of the concern, he announced Thursday. Mr. Gentry will follow policies of the Martin company which have earned it a steadily increasing reputation.

"For these and many other reasons we should support our state fair at Sedalia August 10 to 17."

"The beauty contest tonight, the winner of which will appear in Sedalia August 11 and 12, is a new attraction for this year's fair."

"The fair will present many other new attractions and exhibits of general and specific interest to all classes. Here, every evidence of our great natural resources, various phases of our commercial and agricultural enterprise, the scenic grandeur of Missouri, and many examples of the industrious ingenuity of our citizenry—all offered for the benefit and pleasure and instruction of every visitor."

"You will be rewarded for your attendance by famous bands, brilliant night horse shows, auto and horse racing, fireworks displays, and many startling and amazing free acts."

"It is our fair—your fair—and I urge the attendance of everyone, especially every Missourian."

H. & L. TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY WITH SALE

It will be a Monday since W. E. Hollingsworth and Jack Hollingsworth formed a partnership to manage the Front street drug store formerly called Dudley's.

Extensive remodeling and renaming of the place to the H. & L. drug store made it distinctively Jack's and Cousin Ed's store.

Many things have happened in a year, not the least of which is the extraordinary success which the H. & L. has had. There friends gather to talk over cokes and sandwiches and to buy products sold by the company. The staff is large, and now includes, besides Mr. Hollingsworth and Mr. Lancaster, Louis Largent, a registered pharmacist, Billy Malone, and Paul Engram.

To celebrate the first outstanding year of the firm, Mr. Hollingsworth and Mr. Lancaster will hold a special sale next week, beginning Monday and extending through Saturday. They invite residents to join the celebration by taking advantage of numerous bargain offers.

IMPORTANT DATES IN THE HISTORY OF SAINTE GENEVIEVE, MISSOURI

1735—The trading post and mineral depot of Sainte Genevieve is established on the west banks of the Mississippi River by Philip Francis Renaud, a French miner, who has been granted mineral rights in the territory. The post is destined to become the first permanent white settlement to be established west of the river in Upper Louisiana Territory.

1750—Arrival of Francois Valle and his wife, Marianne Billeron Valle at Sainte Genevieve. Valle was one of the Post's first merchants and was later Civil and Military Commandant of the settlement.

1754—First legal document made at Sainte Genevieve. The document was a Bill of Sale made by Laurent Gabourie in December, 1754 and whereby he transferred property to Jean Baptiste St. Jeme (Beauvais).

1759—The Roman Catholic Church establishes a permanent pastor at Sainte Genevieve, the first to domicile himself in territory west of the Mississippi River. The priest first stationed at Ste. Genevieve was Father Philibert Watrin. The parish was named St. Joachim but was later changed to Sainte Genevieve.

1762—Treaty of Fontainebleau made between France and Spain results in the surrender of the territory by France to Spain.

1764—October 30 First religious marriage performed at Sainte Genevieve of which there is record. The participants were Marc Constantino and Susanne Henne. The two had been held captive by the Indians for a number of years previous to their marriage.

1766—Although Sainte Genevieve is now a Spanish possession, the French appoint Phillip Rochelle as Commandant of the Post, not knowing that the Treaty has been made.

1766—Sainte Genevieve Militia organized under the command of Francois Vallee to ward against possible Indian attack.

1766—DeUlloa, Spanish governor arrives at New Orleans with a small escort of two companies of soldiers and commands the transfer of the territory in the right of the King of Spain and under the provisions of the Treaty made four years before. The French Superior Council declines but Ulloa remains at New Orleans and prepares an expedition to conquer the northern territory.

1767—Captain Don Francisco Rui Morales is instructed by Ulloa to visit Upper Louisiana and sound out the sentiment of Spanish rule at Sainte Genevieve. He is also warned to guard against the encroachments of the English from the Illinois Territory.

1769—Alexander O'Reilly, a native of Ireland but a subject of Spain is appointed Captain-General of Louisiana and takes possession of the territory in the name of the King.

1770—Don Francois Vallee (the name was later spelled Valle) appointed Civil and Military Commandant of the Post of Sainte Genevieve by Captain-General O'Reilly because of his kind treatment of the Spaniards when they first entered the territory.

1772—Spanish statistical report of Sainte Genevieve and St. Louis gave Sainte Genevieve a population of 264 male, 140 female and 287 slaves. St. Louis, 248 male, 151 female and 198 slaves. The following year gave Sainte Genevieve a gain of fourteen whites and slaves.

1788—Henri Pratte, son of Jean Baptiste Pratte was born January 19, 1788 at Sainte Genevieve and was the first native-born resident west of the Mississippi River to become a priest of the Roman Catholic church. He later served as pastor at Sainte Genevieve and died here September 1, 1822.

1799—Population of Sainte Genevieve is 945 whites and slaves.

1800—Treaty of St. Ildefonso, made October 1, 1800, retrocedes to France the territory west of the Mississippi River, held since 1762 by Spain.

1803—Treaty for the purchase of the Louisiana Territory received by President Jefferson in Washington on July 14, 1803 from his representatives abroad. Treaty ratified by Congress at an extra session called October 17, 1803.

1803—Following ratification of the treaty by Congress, France takes possession of the territory November 30, 1803 and holds it until December 20. On that day, M. Laussat, the French representative transfers the territory to the United States.

1803—Isreal Dodge of Sainte Genevieve lowers the flag of France at Sainte Genevieve and raises the Stars and Stripes. It is the fourth form of government Sainte Genevieve citizens have served under.

1805—Captain Amos Stoddard first Civil Commandant of Upper

THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER IMMORTAL OPERA, BY MUNICIPAL OPERA Ruby Mercer, a Find, to Sing Name Part Opposite Robert Halliday, Opera Favorite

St. Louis, Mo., June 17—A noteworthy revival of the immortal Vinnese operetta, "The Chocolate Soldier", with music by Oscar Straus, is the fourth presentation of the Municipal Opera's sixteenth summer season in its open-air theatre at Forest Park.

Beginning Monday night, June 17, the difficult task of playing the soprano role of Nadina has been assigned to Ruby Mercer, who will make her debut in light opera here. As a "find" by Producing Director Laurence Schwab of the Municipal Opera, Miss Mercer created a sensation in New York a few months ago when she made her first concert stage appearance there. Her teacher and coach was the late Mme. Marcella Sembrich.

Included in Miss Mercer's notable repertory in the field of grand opera are "Manon", "Pagliacci", "Rigoletto", "La Bohème", "Lohengrin", "Madame Butterfly", and "The Magic Flute". She has appeared with Philadelphia, Cincinnati and Montreal Grand Opera companies.

Also being brought to St. Louis to appear in the part of Aurelia, wife of Col. Popoff, is Marguerite Sylva, who as Mooda in "Golden Dawn" was an outstanding star at the Municipal Opera in 1929. A mezzo-soprano, and internationally famous prima donna and specialist, she has been acclaimed as one of the most dominating personalities of the contemporary stage. Her first great success was at the age of 17 in the name part of "Carmen" in London. Among her light opera performances are "Princess Chic", "Grand Mogul", "Young Turk", "The Love Song", and "Rose Marie".

Robert Halliday, whose work in "Teresina" and "Madame Sherry" two previous operettas at the Municipal Opera this season, was a distinct hit, will fill the role of Bumeril, the gallant army officer, in the "Chocolate Soldier". Others in the cast are Polly Dille, Charles Galagher, Earle MacVeigh, Una Val, William Hain, Oscar Ragland, Lorraine Manners, Marion Huntley, Juillianna, Al Downing and Victor Casmore.

Although "The Chocolate Soldier" is not new to Municipal Opera audiences, it having been produced in 1921, 1926 and 1929, the operetta is expected to surpass any previous production because of the remarkable improvement in lighting effects and scenery, coupled with the advanced step in modern stage producing, that has taken place at the al fresco theatre.

The story of the operetta jests at war and soldiering between armies of Servia and Bulgaria. A Swiss officer in the Servian army is forced to hide in the boudoir my officer. A love affair as well as trouble, then evolves to cause many comic moments.

The score includes such imperishable melodies as "My Hero", "Sympathy", "Our Heroes Come", "Never Was There Such a Lover", "That Would Be Most Lovely Be", "Falling in Love", and the delightful "Letter Song".

Next week, the Municipal Opera presents the peppy and tuneful musical play "Good News". A story of college life, it ran for more than a year on Broadway, and had an outstanding road tour. A large cast of old and new favorites will be seen in "Good News", namely Gertrude Niesen, Bobby Jarvis, Alice Dudley and Jack Cole, Marjorie Peterson, Audrey Christie, Jerry Goff, John Sheehan, Lorraine Manners, Sheila Dille, Roy Gordon, Duke McHale, Una Val, Earl MacVeigh, Al Downing, Victor Casmore, Marion Huntley and Phil Farley.

Rolla Clark, 35, a native of Du Quoin, Ill., visited home folks last week and showed them how he makes a living mucking tanks, electric light bulbs, razor blades, fish hooks and metal clips. He estimates that in the past 12 years he has eaten 180 pounds of glass, 100 gross of fish hooks and a like number of razor blades.

Better Ways to Light Up for Bridge and Other Games

When the so-called "bridge lamp" is used to light a game of bridge, as above, its nature and purpose have been misunderstood. At right is shown a correct type of lamp for the purpose.

By Jean Prentice

MISPLACED hands, sharp words exchanged across the bridge table—these are frequent indications that the "bridge lamp" has been misnamed. So-called because its extension arm holding the shade and bulb has been built on the principle of the cantilever bridge, the bridge lamp was really designed as a reading lamp, and not to play bridge by, at all.

General Illumination Needed

When this lamp is used to illuminate a bridge table, we invariably find a result like that shown in the illustration at upper left. Because of its narrow circle of light, this lamp can properly illuminate only two of the hands of cards. In order to provide light for the other side of the table, the shade has been tilted, causing discomfort and glare all around.

Double-Purpose Lamps Available

For adequate lighting of a bridge game, either the indirect torchere, as shown, or one of the indirect floor lamps containing a white glass bowl within the shade, may be used. The latter, which forms a good reading lamp, gives both totally indirect and semi-indirect light. Thus, it is a double-purpose lamp, and comes in a wide variety of styles and designs suitable for any decorative scheme.

The indirect torchere is well-nigh ideal for the game room or recreation room, besides doing its turn in the living room when a moderate amount of glareless light is desired. Many of these torcheres come equipped with the new three-light bulbs, by which any of three different amounts of light may be had at the mere turn of a switch.

Make-Shift Lighting Inexcusable
Make-shift lighting is no longer necessary or excusable, any more than is make-shift furniture. The well-kept home of today makes just as careful provision for the various lighting requirements of family and guests as it does for any other phase of living. Guests nowadays expect good, comfortable lighting, and the thoughtful hostess always endeavors to provide it, especially for games roughly. Cool dressing, fold in shrimp, peas and finely chopped celery. Pour into fish mold or individual molds. Chill in refrigerator until firm. Serve on bed of watercress and garnish with cucumber sauce.

Part 2. Soak gelatine in cold water. Cook tomatoes with onions, salt, sugar and paprika and put through strainer. Dissolve the gelatine in the hot liquor, cool. Fill mold with layers of stuffed eggs and tomato jelly, letting each layer harden before adding the next one. Chill in refrigerator until firm. Serve slices on hearts of lettuce.

Frozen Tomato Cream

1 tablespoon gelatine
1-4 cup cold water
2 1-2 cups tomato
3 peppercorns
1-2 teaspoon salt
1 cup whipping cream
2 cloves
3 alspice berries
1-2 teaspoon celery seed
1 tablespoon minced onion
Few sprigs of parsley
1 tablespoon vinegar

Cook tomatoes and seasoning together for 10 minutes. Strain. Soak gelatine in cold water and add to hot tomato juice. Stir until gelatine is completely dissolved.

Add vinegar and cool. Pour into fast freezing tray and partially freeze. Pour into chilled bowl and beat until light. Whip cream to thin custard consistency and fold into first mixture. Complete freezing. Cut in inch squares for serving and arrange on bed of crisp slices of cucumber and lettuce. Serves 8.

Molded Shrimp with Cucumber Sauce

2 cups broken shrimp
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-2 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon mustard
Few grains Cayenne
1-2 cup peas
2 egg yolks
1-2 tbsp melted butter
3-4 cup milk
1-2 cup vinegar
1 tablespoon gelatine
1 cup celery
2 tablespoons cold water

Mix together dry ingredients, add egg yolk, butter, milk and vinegar. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens.

Soften gelatine in cold water and add to hot dressing. Stir mixture in order to blend gelatine thoroughly.

Usually, however, entrees are combinations of flaked seafood or cold cooked chicken or meat "extended" in quantity by the use of cooked rice or spaghetti and combined for flavor with fruits, vegetables, nuts, and distinctive seasonings.

If you have electric refrigeration easy, you will find chilled and frozen entrees the most tempting and refreshing during warm weather, and the easiest of all to make.

Stuffed Eggs in Tomato Jelly

Part 1
4 eggs, hard cooked
4 tablespoons mayonnaise
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon pepper
paprika
2 cups tomatoes
Part 2
1 teaspoon grated onion
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon paprika
2 teaspoons sugar
4 teaspoons gelatine
1-4 cup cold water

Part 1. Cut hard cooked eggs in halves lengthwise and remove yolks. Mix yolks with mayonnaise, salt, pepper, and paprika and refill the whites.
